WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1864.

ENGLAND.

The state of European politics has had a rather serious effect upon the London money market. The Bank of England has raised its rate of interest to 9 per cent., but money was plenty, and the greatest speculation going on in Bank shares.

The Princess of Wales had given, in the Queen's name, a drawing-room. We remark that the Argentine Minister M. Balcarce, was not present.

At the sailing of the packet it was stated that a special telegram had been received, stating that the Danes had at last consented to an armistice.

Meyerbeer, the great composer, expired at Paris.

Great fears were entertained in England that there would be another war between Russia and Turkey.

The Emperor of Russia was about to visit Kirling'e, where it was thought that the Emperor of Austria and the King of Prussia would meet him.

The news of the defeat of the Northerns in Louisiana had, strange to say, the effect of driving down the Confederate stocks about 3 per cent.

Buenos Ayrean Bonds were rather weak 75-78.

A vessel had cleared from Newport for Rosario direct, with railway iron for the Argentine Central Railway Company.

Several new lines of emigrant packet ships had been started, and were advertized in the River Plate Mail.

The Galileo had been launched.

Several causes were mentioned to create an uneasy feeling this week, and to induce a pause in almost all operations. The successive raising of the Bank rate of discount to 8 per cent. to 9 per cent., together with the growing feeling that the Conference is far from arriving at a settlement of the Danish question as ever, have quite neutralised the good effects which the favourable change in the weather, and the undoubtably prosperous state of the country as shown by the Board of Trade Returns, would otherwise have produced. Money is becoming scarcer, and even higher rates than 9 per cent. are currently paying in London.

Prince Alfred left Berlin yesterday morning. Before joining his ship he will visit Weimar, Coburg and Darmstadt.

General Garibaldi has arrived at Gibraltar, and proceeded to Caprera. The Udine reached Gibraltar on Tuesday all on board well. She was to leave again next day.

A telegram from Shanghai reports the advance of Major Gordon against the Taepings. He had captured Pehing and two other cities, and was marching on Nankin. From Japan it is stated that an Englishman had been nearly assassinated at Nagasaki. Sir R. Alcock had arrived at Yeddo.

The fortifications of Fredericia are to be blown up. Such is the order of General von Gablenz, and the city of Fredericia being outside the boundary which both Austria and Prussia declared in the beginning should be the limit of military operations.

Telegrams state that some of the Austrian men of war have arrived in the Elbe.

The Emperor of the French received the Japanese Ambassadors on Tuesday, and heard their announcement that they had come to explain the affair of Simonoseki regarding the execution of a treaty and the mishap which led to an attack against a French officer.

Nor delivered a reply, which, although courteous and friendly in tone, yet dwelt decisively on the necessity of causing international treaties to be respected, and conveyed to the envoys a cheering assurance that the European Powers would never be combine for the purpose of defending their honour and interest in distant countries. The speech of the ambassadors was translated from Japanese into Dutch and from Dutch into French, and the Imperial reply of course had to go through the same duplicate process.

The Marquis de Boissy has just been creating another scene in the French Senate. He complained vehemently that all the correspondence which he used the other day in regard to the Prince of Wales were not published in the Moniteur's official report of the proceedings. The President, M. Troplong, replied that he had himself ordered the suppression of some of the words, because he did not consider them fit for publication. De Boissy said he would repeat them, to which the President replied that they should nevertheless not be published. The Marquis declared that he had sent them to the foreign Journals, to which the President replied that the Marquis had done so because in France he felt himself so insignificant to create even scandal. Hereupon De Boissy flamed up and declared that he would dare to insult him. The President, however, finally extinguished him by reminding him that on a former occasion certain words of his had to be suppressed because of their gross indecency. The Senate supported the President unanimously. Count de Flahault remarking that if it were in their power they would pass him a vote of thanks.

The Journal des Débats publishes news in Madrid, which was looked forward to with some anxiety, has passed off without any disturbance.

AMERICA

Arrived in New York, April 23

Rumours prevailed in Washington yesterday that the armies of both Lee and Grant were in motion and manœuvring for advantageous positions preparatory to a general engagement.

According to deserters, Longstreet's army has arrived at Charlottesville, en route for Staunton and operations in the Shenandoah Valley.

The Confederates, under General Ransom, attacked Fort Gray, near Plymouth, North Carolina, on the 17th, and were repulsed. The attack was renewed on the following day with the co-operation of a Confederate ram, which sank three out of five of the Federal gunboats in the river.

It is thought that Plymouth will have to be evacuated, and fears are entertained for the safety of Newbern.

The Banks, by their action in the counts from Louisiana, claim a victory at Pleasant Hill on the 9th, with severe loss to the Confederates. They admit that they were compelled to retreat to Natchitoches and Alexandria.

Admiral Porter's fleet, which had been detained by the low water in Red river, was fiercely assailed on its return down Red River. The transports barely escaped capture.

Memphis dispatches of the 19th state that General Forrest's forces are retiring into Mississippi.

The Governors of Ohio, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, and Pennsylvania urge Mr. Lincoln to call out 200,000 additional troops for the exclusive defence of their States.

The panic in the market has almost entirely subsided Stocks and shares are improving. Government Five-Twenties, 1865, 107½; Ditto, Ditto, 1881, 110½; Seven-Thirties, 111½; New York Central Railway, 134; Erie, 94; Illinois Central, 142.

Gold, 147. Exchange, 193.

Cotton, 60c. Breadstuffs improved Provision active. Sugars steady, at 15¾ to 17c. Coffee unchanged.

Despatches from Fortress Monroe of the 22d, state that the Confederates have surrounded Plymouth, and that their troops have complete possession of Roanoake River.

General Butler has despatched a fleet of gunboats to the assistance of Fredericksburg.

Gold, 147. Cotton, 86c. Exchange 200.

General Grant is now at the head of an army of 200,000 men; and it is said that he again intends attacking Richmond.

The whole Burnside's army amounts to 40,00 men.

The Northerners have suffered a defeat in Louisiana, having lost 3,000 men near 24 pieces of artillery, and 200 waggons. They suffered also another defeat at Plymouth, in North Carolina, in which 2,500 prisoners were taken, and 30 pieces of cannon.

Colonel Fry, the Provost Marshal of Baltimore, has been convicted of fraud, and sentenced to one year's confinement.

Recently, it was said, was about to increase the import tax 3 per cent., and put on an income tax of 5 and 10 per cent.

The greatest panic had taken place in the New York Money Market. All the leading stock-brokers had smashed, and exchanging in Gold was stopped. Things, however, settled down in a few days, and exchange fell to 193.

THE WAR IN JUTLAND.

Hamburg, May 6

It is reported that the Austrians purpose crossing into Jutland.

The Austrian squadron has appeared at the mouth of the Elbe. It has joined the Prussian ships. The Danish vessels have withdrawn without giving battle.

Release of the arrested Jutlanders

Most of the citizens seized as hostages in Jutland have been set at liberty, the war contribution having been paid.

It is thought that the Jutland officials will be also liberated.

Refusal of the armistice by Denmark

Copenhagen, May 5, 3.30 p.m.

The conditions proposed by the great German Powers as indispensable to their acceptance of an armistice have been declined by the Danish Government, which refuses to raise the blockade of the German ports.

Vienna, May 5.

The "General Correspondenz" of today denies the assertion of "Le Temps" that the division of the Austrian fleet destined for the North Sea has been recalled.

The Prussian Navigation Dues

Berlin, May 6.

A Royal decree has just been issued based upon Article 63 of the Constitution, suspending for six months the extra navigation dues payable by foreign ships upon a higher scale than Prussian vessels.

FRANCE.

Paris, May 6, evening.

The 'Moniteur du Soir' of to-day details the conditions for the acceptance of an armistice proposed by the London Conference, which are in conformity with those already published. According to the same paper, the next sitting of the Conference will be held on Monday.

A commission has been appointed to discuss the question as to a union between the management of telegraphic lines and the Post-office. The Commission will also take in consideration the question of the results to which an union might give rise.

The Bank of France has raised its rate of discount to 7 per cent.

Paris, May 6.

The Bourse has been flat.

Rentes closed at 66f. 45c., or 20c. lower than on Wednesday.

The Prussian War Contribution

Copenhagen, May 3.

The following is the proclamation issued by Field-Marshal Wrangel, the Prussian Commander-in-Chief, imposing a forced contribution upon the inhabitants of Jutland:—

"Head-quarters, Veile, April 28.

"In compensation of the damage to property caused to Prussians as well as to other German subjects by ships and cargoes being captured and condemned by the Danes, a present contribution is hereby imposed upon Jutland of 6,000 Prussian dollars (£96 000). This sum corresponds to the amount of injury inflicted, and is liable to be increased upon account of the estimation of the damage: possible surplus, upon the other hand, arising after payment of the compensation will be refunded.

"Upon partition of the above-named amount, 50,000 Prussian dollars falls to the share of Veile. This sum is to be paid within the 30th of April to the Requisition Department, Major von Beckedorff, of the Westphalian Jager Battalion, if it is desired to avoid the inevitable military compulsory measures.

"VON WRANGEL, Field Marsal."

The intelligence which has been received from Jutland shows that the population generally has refused to pay the required contribution, and that the Prussian troops have already commenced to enforce it by the seizure of their demands. 'Dagbladet' published the following telegram from the Town Commandant of Hoyerswe yesterday:—

"The Prussians have carried away eleven citizens from Horsens. The passport accompanying them was in search, "Ex hostage," was written. The 8,000,000 demanded by Von Wrangel in Horsens has been refused. The citizens will rather submit to be plundered. The inhabitants of Veile have also refused payment."

The Porte has resolved that the army in Roumelia should be increased to 150,000 men.

A special commission has left here to superintend the completion of the armaments of the fortresses on the Black Sea and Dardanelles.

A portion of the Circassian immigrants are to be incorporated with the army under Omer Pasha's orders.

CHARGES AGAINST PERU

It argues little for good faith on the part of the Peruvian and Chilian press to have withheld from us the famous Memorandum of the Spanish commissioner justifying his intended seizure of the Chincha Islands, and dated Lima, April 12th. The object of concealing this all important document can have been no other than to mis-represent as an on the part of the Spanish Admiral which must cause universal surprise and indignation when the real cause is kept in the back ground. The Español of this city has, however, obtained a copy of Sor Mazarredo's ultimatum, which was distributed on Monday as a special supplement, and as Englishmen are proverbially fond of fair play, we give it other side of the question, in which Peru has heretofore been represented as an innocent martyr. Audi alteram partem:

"In 1833 Spain recognised Mexican independence, and has since then adhered to establish friendly relations with the other Republics, sending hither Ministers and Consuls, making important concessions in treaties, and in making divers insults. Previous to 1853 all Peruvian ports were closed to Spanish trading vessels: in the same year a treaty was signed by Ramon Castilla to draw up a recognition of Peruvian independence but the republic allowed the term of two years to expire without exchanging the ratifications and never even had the courtesy to send an answer to Her Majesty's cabinet. A revolution occurring at Lima in 1853 the mob threw into the street all the papers of the Foreign office, and among these was found a document declaring that Peru had rejected in toto the terms of treaty.

"From 1853 to 1859 grave events occurred in Chinging Spain to Peru. It was, in the latter year, Sor. Tavira, our Minister to Chile, but this mission was also a failure. In 1860 Sor. Galvez arrived in Madrid as Peruvian Plenipotentiary, and was received in this capacity by the Premier, Marshal O'Donnell. The former, however, was displeased on seeing Queen Isabella, which being refused, pending the treaty, he retired from Spain. Then commenced a series of outrages on Spanish subjects, unparalelled even in the fever of the struggle for independence. Spaniards were openly plundered of their properties and murdered in the most wanton manner, so far those who died intestate, and left heirs in Spain, their goods were confiscated, the cabezalerias of Peru appropriated institutions of this kind founded purely for Spaniards. Sr. Tavira had been earnestly urged to demand reparation on these outrages, and the murder of Spanish subjects, whose assassins, though well-known, were suffered to walk about with impunity, and especially touching the case of a Spaniard robbed by the police-officers and publicly butchered by the Governor of Callao when he solicited justice. The failure of Tavira's mission convinced the Spanish Government of the conduct of Peru.

MR. WELLS' BALLOON AND ITS Perilous Adventure in the Clouds.

On Sunday, at 2 p.m., the balloon 'Washington' was brought from the gas-house to Plaza Victoria, and Sig. Bartoli took two photographic views which will shortly appear in a brochure written by Mr. Wells, with a portrait of the fearless monaut. At 2.30 all arrangements being completed with the assistance of Mr. Simpson, the signal was given to let go, and the magestic airship slowly mounted into space, passing over the Colon Theatre, amid the joyful exclamations of several thousand persons. The wind was light from the S.W., and Mr. Wells calculated on reaching the Oriental coast. On reaching a height of 3,500 yards he found the wind changed, and abandoned his former route. When passing over the inner and outer roads he saluted the vessels, waving the American and Argentine flags, which was replied to from the several masthead. The height it being at that time about 2,000 yards, he was still enabled to hear the cheering on board the vessels. As soon as the wind changed he determined to take if possible, a W. current, which would bring him to this side of the Plate. The balloon gradually descended till the anchors touched the water, being then some 15 miles from the Belgrano shore. The anchors would not hold, and as the balloon began to drag along the water, Mr. Wells threw out ballast and again rose, attaining a height of 4,000 yards in the direction of the Catapachay islands. He remained for some time suspended over Martin Garcia, being able to distinguish the fortifications, the long line of coast on either side of the Plate, the Archipelago of the Paraná, and the surrounding country for 100 miles in every direction.

About 4 p.m., the hour being near sunset, the balloon became more condensed and descended more rapidly than at first, until the anchors again touched the water, but the resonant's efforts to get a permanent hold were as fruitless as before. Accordingly he again threw out ballast, and rose about 2000 yards, in the direction of San Fernando: here the campagna and islands formed a beautiful panorama, while the city of Buenos Ayres gradually became less distinct to the view. Coming down a third time, he was again unable to secure a footing, and no boat or vessels put out to his rescue, although a fishing smack was lying off Martin Garcia, and several boats at San Fernando. Being obliged to make a fourth ascent, he threw out all the remaining ballast, and rose to the same height as before. Coming down a fourth time, still over the centre of the river Plate, he cut away his anchors, and struggled between the lower currents to reach San Fernando, and the upper one towards the islands.

The sun had now set, and coming down a fifth time, he was obliged to cut away the car, in order further to lighten the balloon, and in another flight reach either terra firma or the Island. Then taking his seat in the hoop attached to the rope, and holding on two life-belts, besides attaching the gas-bag by a line of 100 feet, so as to serve as a buoy in case of accident, he ascended a sixth time, and higher than before, passing through the clouds, and reaching about 6000 yards. Here it was necessary to throw up sand, and after a short interval set in the most extraordinary splendour. The cold was so excessive that his feet became quite numb, and the sand at the top, yes which had dragged in the water quivered with an icy covering. The view was of great grandeur, the sunset, on gas, from excessive cold, caused the balloon to descend rapidly. On touching the water he contrived to shift his position inside the hoop to the gas-bag, and the balloon dragging for some time, Mr. Wells was up to his waist in water, but was able rapidly proceed towards our coast.

Soon, however, the warm atmosphere caused his balloon again to rise, this time about 10 yards. Mr. Wells was now in a most critical position, holding on, seated on the gas bag which hung on a slender cord from the hoop. The gas bag began to revolve rapidly, but luckily his head did not grow dizzy, and the cord did not break although giving an alarming manner. The balloon gradually lost its power and again descended Mr. Wells being overjoyed to see by the moonlight the waters increasing on the water. He was then dragged, as before, along the surface of the water at the rate of 15 miles an hour on land, and after a exciting ride (which he compares to sleigh driving on the snow) of about 90 minutes, reached the shore. The people of San Isidro showed lights and rockets which greatly cheered him, as he was ignorant of the direction in which he went. At last he was deposited in a swamp, and forced to abandon the balloon, which, being freed of its weight, rose tumultuously to a great height, passing over San Fernando in a W. direction. Our hero made his way to the nearest house, which happened to be that of Mr. Augustin Ojuso, Quinta Ombu, Punta Chica: here he found the young ladies lookin at the balloon, who were greatly surprised to see Mr. Wells in so wretched a plight, wearing his life-belts, and all wet and cold. At first they would not believe his identity, and consequently they treated him with the greatest kindness, and changed his clothes; after supper he played chess and dominoes, to help to celebrate a day, narrating also the wonders he had gone through.

Next day he returned to town, and almost would have it that the chief engineer of the train in which Mr. Wells came had his log out off and was about to kill him, while the conductor arrived safe and sound in town, after re-pollous a trip. Mr. Wells has lost his flags, overcoat and car: there are hopes of recovering the balloon, which has probably landed on some Indian cazan in of Capilla or Luzan, and we are the finder, shall or native or foreigner, will respect Mr. Wells' property. He intends in his next trip to use the River Plate, with a boat attached, and afterwards will make preparations for crossing the Andes in his mons e balloon, Republica Argentina.

Launch of the Central Argentine Railway.

Rails shipped for Rosario direct.

Mr. Armstrong has received the bill of lading and invoice of 1,075 doubleheaded rails, weighing 200 tons, shipped on board the Englishman at Newport, April 25th, 1861, bound for Rosario, in the River Parana, same being materials for the Central Argentine Railway, consigned by Messrs. Ogibbs and Sons.

Mr. Wheelwright has written to say that he has procured three or four other vessels, but Messrs. Gibbs at first met with considerable difficulty in obtaining vessels of light draught of water, suitable to make the voyage direct to Rosario: this was mainly owing to the present Danish war, which prevented the use of German or Danish vessels for this purpose.

The great regenerator also informs us that he has taken his passage in the Southampton packet, 9th June, so that he is already on his way, and will shortly be here to receive the ovation which every friend of B. Ayres will offer him.

WOOL MARKET.

There has been a very active demand for almost all sorts of Wool during the week, and the prices realized in the current quality in foreign descriptions has been eagerly bought up at enhanced rates; the amount of business has been greatly limited by the short supply of good useful Wools available for present demands, and fresh arrivals are therefore anxiously looked for to supply future requirements. Previous some considerable sales have been made both in Arequipa washed, and Lima unwashed Wools, with a further advance is again noticeable in these descriptions. Alpaca, the market is now pretty well cleared, except as regards a few parcels of inferior quality, and holders are very refuse to sell for arrival, except at enhanced rates. River Plate Wools have been enquired for, but being held at very high rates, the transactions are only limited without any material change in prices generally.

Parana—The Liverpool steamer of this name leaves to-day: mails at the Correo to 3 p.m.

Congress—The senators passed, yesterday, without opposition, the bill for subscribing to 2000 shares of the Central Argentine Railway: the amendment in Mr. Wheelwright's concession was passed on Monday by the Deputies (along with the former bill), but the Senators, postponed it for discussion on Thursday.

The Manta—The Mersey arrived on yesterday morning, with Southampton mails up to the 9th ult. We are much indebted to the kindness of Capt. Cruickwin and the Purser, Mr. Hill, who sent us, besides our parcels of papers, some interesting shipping news, which we publish with the latest news from Europe, in another column. Our supplements have not been given round in the South end, subscribers are requested to send for them.

ON 'CHANGE.

June 14, 1864.

There was very little business done in specie to-day. Only 85,813 patacones sold, altogether, including 15,813 for cash. Patacones remained very firm through the day, opening and closing at 28 80.

The arrival of the English mails caused a slight stir on change to-day, and at times was little specie business going on, people had time to discuss the news.

The market reports of River Plate produce are rather encouraging. Wool has gone up in Havre, England and the States. Salted hides leave a small profit.

The shippers of raw hides to the States have reason to be nervous, owing to the change in the U. S. tariff law, and the monetous state of exchange.

The sudden rise in the rate of interest by the Bank of England to 9 per cent. has set us down on prejudicial effects on our money market, but as it is confidently asserted that the rate will go up to 11 and even 12 per cent., it is believed it will ultimately affect us little.

Commercial news from the United States is of a truly afflicting nature. In New York a crisis has been expected, and, according to the English papers nearly the entire board of brokers in New York failed.

The only important news we have from Montevideo is that Sr. Castellanos has been named to accompany Sr. Elizalde to Flores, soon as yet we have not heard how Flores received them.

We notice that a call of £2 has been made on the Argentine Central Railway shares, which makes £4 10s. on each share now.

We regret to say that there are very unpleasant rumors in circulation respecting several vet-goods houses. It was stated on the Bolsa that two or three of these houses were actually in liquidation. It would, however, we consider, be premature on our part, to give names.

The floor which we spoke about yesterday as being in the Custom House deposits, and concerning which the subject of stoppage "in transito" had arisen, has, we understand, been exchanged by the original proprietors.

The meeting of the Creditors of Civalleri, hermanos, & Co. was held last evening. An approximate balance sheet was presented, showing liabilities amounting to $3,400,762 m|c, and assets valued at $2,208,328 m|c; leaving a deficiency of $1,192,436 m|c. These figures cannot be exactly depended upon, as there has not yet been time to take stock &c. A commission composed of Messrs. Carrizo, Barth and H. Cammann was appointed to make an inventory and draw up an exact statement of the affairs of the house to be presented to the creditors with as little delay as possible. It appears that three or four other houses have been closely connected with Civalleri's, lending them their signature, &c., and the stoppage and winding up of these firms will be inevitable. Two of them are spoken of as likely to pay 70 per cent. whilst Civalleri's estate, taking the worst view of it, ought to give 50 per cent. From these particulars it will appear that creditors who took the precaution of getting a "finiot" will be paid in full, while those who held the single security of the firm will lose about 50 per cent.

We have been informed on very good authority that the private bank referred to in our edition of yesterday, as having made large advances to the bankrupts, are fully covered, and that after realizing the securities in hand, and paying themselves, there will remain a considerable surplus to be returned to the estate.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAUA & Cº
No. 103 calle de Cangallo. —
BUENOS-AYRES.
The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Creditists who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence.
The Bank of Mauá & Co in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depository for their savings.
The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.
These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions who are eagerly interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age. Instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities
The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city following the example of their firm in Montevideo now offer the same facilities in this city and will open on the 1st October a "Savings Bank" at No. 103 calle Cangallo from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on week days, and on Sundays and holidays from 10 a. m. to 12 m. for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.
The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.
The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.
The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the public by the benefits derived from the course of its operations which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles and always directed to promote the general well being.
The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.
Buenos Ayres September 19th 1863.
p. p. Mauá & Co.
WILLIAM LESLIE.

CONDITIONS.
1st. The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty five dollars currency or one silver dollar upwards.
2nd. The interest allowed is six per cent [6 p$] per annum which is liquidated every six months.
3rd. The depositor can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.
4th. Once the amount deposited exceeds Twenty five thousand dollars currency or one thousand dollars silver the depositor if he wishes can open an account current according to the rules followed by the Bank.
5th. In case the depositor loses his Pass Book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.
